

Autumn evening at school

For this project I started by defining different moments and places that I like.

So I decided to draw my boarding school which I join every night.

I made a sketch that allowed me to gather my ideas and define what I wanted to represent.

I wanted to remind Edward Hopper. I used red yellow and orange colors to represent the evening. The floor is red and the walls are orange.

The bright colors represent warm happiness and energy,

Only the buildings are painted in darker colors or blue to show the contrast. In the middle, we can see a silhouette representing myself turned black. We can see the shadow behind.

I represent sunset and autumn, a period during which I entered my boarding school.

It was painted by Grigory, on twenty-nine december two thousand seventeen.
